Sports really gave me who I am. I didn't understand that things might not be completely equal between the genders because they were always equal with [my brothers]. And if they weren't, I fought like hell to make sure they were. I guess some habits die hard!

 THE WAY FORWARD

practice makes culture™// the welcome elephant

What you practice as an individual as a leader and as a leadership team defines your culture. Your words and behaviors create experiences that shape others' beliefs and actions, and ultimately your results.

 THE WAY FORWARD

Raising the bench // 01

10

Who's on the bench?

How will the next levels of leaders be ready to enter the game?

How can we help them be ready to make great decisions and guide the organization?

ANITA B.ORG 2023 GRACE HOPPER CELEBRATION

THE WAY FORWARD

11

ANITA B.ORG 2023 GRACE HOPPER CELEBRATION

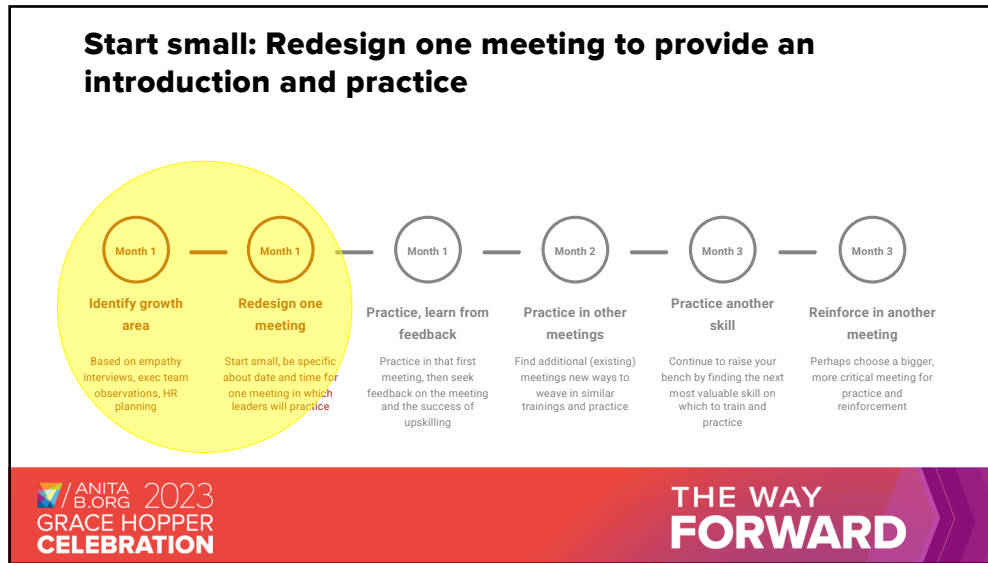

THE WAY FORWARD

Changing habits, forming new habits

1. Make a clear statement and decision about who you are:
I am the kind of leader who invests in the bench
2. Start small

12

12

13

ANITA B.ORG 2023 GRACE HOPPER CELEBRATION
THE WAY FORWARD

9

Choose a skill and a meeting // 02

14

ANITA B.ORG 2023 GRACE HOPPER CELEBRATION THE WAY FORWARD

What poor behaviors or poor outcomes are we observing?

- Speaking in outputs vs value
- People not paying attention, tuned out
- People cutting each other off
- Droning on...
- Finger pointing, blaming other parts of the org
- People not sharing difficult information early enough to make a change
- Not creating the results you wanted this quarter

15

15

What skills would raise the bench?

- Leadership
 - ROI / Value
 - Storytelling
 - New idea pitching
 - Jobs to be done (JTBD)
- Collaborative culture
 - Active listening
 - Empathy
 - Healthy conflict
 - Appreciation
- Systems thinking
 - Systems understanding
 - Roadmapping approach
 - Personal responsibility
 - Gradual empowerment
- New technology
 - Clarity & transparency
 - Online collaboration tools
 - Value stream mapping
 - Machine learning / AI

16

Examples of meetings you might choose and the skills you might practice in those meetings

Short and Medium-length meetings

- Biweekly leadership meeting + active listening
- Vendor or technology decision meeting + Jobs to be Done (JTBD)
- Standup + speaking succinctly to value delivered
- Marketing sync meeting + Chat GPT
- System Demo + lean-agile principles
- Extended leadership team monthly meeting + gradual empowerment

Longer meetings

- PI Planning + crucial conversations (at least observation/storytelling/emotion cycle)
- Quarterly steering and planning + personal responsibility
- Strategy articulation leadership offsite + measuring ROI and using a modified strategy A3

17

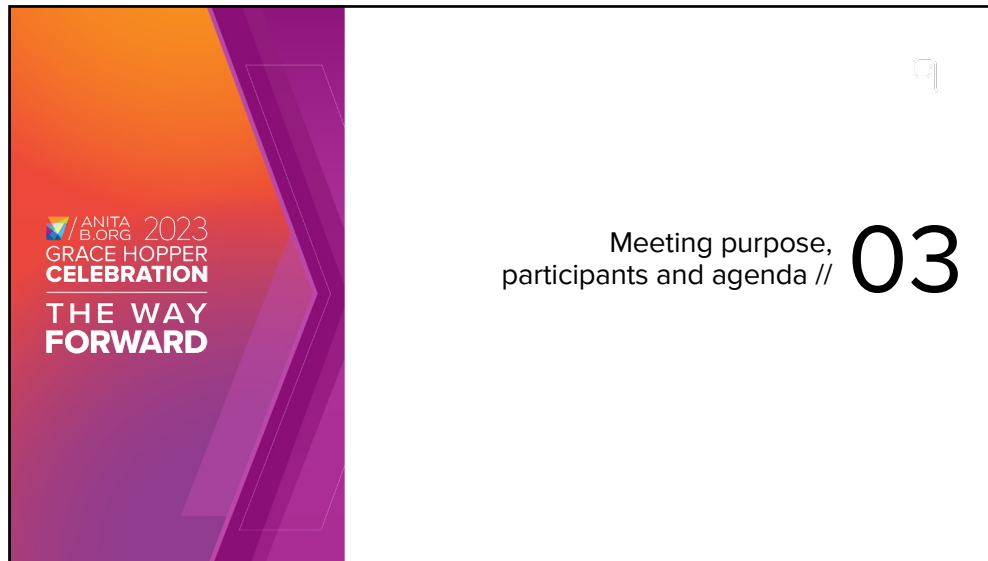

Exercise: Choose a skill to work on and a meeting in which to practice

1. Solo brainstorm some trios:
+ meeting
+ observed behaviors or outcomes
+ skills to practice
2. Share your list with your tablemates.
3. Choose a trio to explore today, and write it in your worksheet.

 THE WAY FORWARD

21

 THE WAY FORWARD

Seek to create cycles of training—or reminders practice
feedback or coaching

22

Training Type, Style, and Design

What kind of training might most effectively improve the skills we want to work on? What kind of practice?

What format best fits the material and the audience?

How might the training fit naturally into the flow of the meeting while also providing ample time to practice?

Who might most effectively provide the training?

23

Agenda Design Example: Short | medium meeting with active listening

Problems: People talk over each other, repeat ideas as their own, tune out until their turn to talk.

Impact: Some of the best ideas get missed; people feel unheard; poor systems learning

Skill: Active listening

Meetings: Update meeting, team meeting, retrospective

Agenda

[pre-work training: watch a short, 2-min video on active listening]

- Opening includes training watching the 2-min video again to be top of mind
- Round-robin updates
[remind everyone to practice active listening]
- After each, ask someone to paraphrase for understanding
[perhaps choose the next speaker]

24

Agenda Refining Iteration #1

Solo work: Add some initial ideas about your meeting agenda to include cycles of training, practice, coaching

Use examples on back of your worksheet to guide you

We'll do several iterations of examples and updating. Some solo updates, some pair and group discussion

 THE WAY FORWARD

25

Agenda Design Example: Long meeting w/ personal responsibility

Problem: Leaders use “office culture” or “politics” to justify work being stuck or change being impossible; related habit of finger-pointing and blaming others.

Impact: Initiatives never get started; energy is wasted on blaming rather than solving together.

Skill: Operating from a place of personal responsibility

Meetings: Quarterly steering, annual strategy, leadership off-site, &c

Agenda

[pre-work training: watch personal responsibility video]

- > Icebreaker: stories about being out of personal responsibility
- > Current state readouts
 - o Guide presenters to notice the language they use, and listeners to notice their responses.
- > Consider paths forward
 - o Review proposed rocks, looking for blame and obligation. Review Strategy Worksheets for root cause blind spots.
- > Decide which initiatives to pursue
 - o Script “Art of the Possible” language
- > ROAM Risks
 - Review step to check for blame language
- > Consensus Vote
 - o Use Fist of Five to avoid pocket vetoes
 - o Carefully create a safe space for “1” and “2” votes to articulate their concerns

 THE WAY FORWARD

26

Agenda Refining Iteration #2

Chat with someone next to you about additional ideas for your meeting agenda to include cycles of training, practice, coaching.

 THE WAY FORWARD

27

Agenda Design Example: Short meeting with better value stories

Problem: Team focuses on outputs instead of outcomes

Impact: Poor prioritization, stakeholder confusion, less systems thinking

Skill: Describe the value whenever talking about work

Meetings: Daily stand-up, team or whole-org huddle

Agenda

- ▣ Training: Leader provides 3 quick, current examples of speaking to customer, org, and business value
- ▣ For each effort that had some change since yesterday:
 - What has changed?
 - Is this effort blocked?
 - How does this effort contribute to a larger goal? (with feedback)
- ▣ For each effort that will be worked on next:
 - What work will be done?
 - How does this effort contribute to a larger goal? (with feedback)

 THE WAY FORWARD

28

Agenda Refining Iteration #3

Solo work

Further refine your ideas for your meeting purpose and skills; how you might update your meeting agenda to include cycles of training, practice, coaching

THE WAY FORWARD

29

Agenda Design Example: Medium meeting with lean-agile principles

Problem: Leaders are more focused on plans than results; learning seen as failing

Impact: Teams demoralized, not generating results

Skill: Leaders support Lean-Agile principles

Meeting: Biweekly system demo (other examples: biweekly leadership mtg; planning)

Agenda

[pre-work training: read a short article on iterative development]

- > Purpose adds a WHY of “showing progress toward outcomes”
- > Opening adds a working agreement around safe to learn
- > Each demo includes narration:
 - o Why this was the most important work
 - o What the team learned
 - o Incremental results
 - o How next work will be adjusted based on learnings
- ▣ Invite leaders to practice celebrating learning, and providing feedback

Agenda Refining Iteration #4

Group work

In 30 seconds or less, share with your group the following:

- Meeting
- Skill and training
- Agenda

31

Choose practice participants:

Who needs to practice together to make both the functional outcomes and the social outcomes stick?

32

32

Exercise: How might you expand the participant list?

Capture your response on your worksheet.

Consider:

- Who models the skill well?
- Who should practice together, to help each other learn?
- What peers might we want to learn at the same time?

ANITA B.ORG 2023 GRACE HOPPER CELEBRATION

THE WAY FORWARD

38

Exercise: Did we raise the bench? Did we also improve the meeting?

In your group, choose ONE person's work to evaluate.

- Is the training directly tied to the behavior change?
- Can participants practice in a meaningful way?
- Will the meeting better achieve its functional outcomes?
- Have we over-rotated on training and practice?

THE WAY FORWARD

Changing habits, forming new habits

1. Make a clear statement and decision about who you are:

I am the kind of leader who invests in the bench
2. Start small

3. Be VERY specific.
 - Where (what meeting)?
 - Date, day, time
 - Use your specific agenda
 - When/how will you tell your responsibility buddy that you held your updated meeting?
